Merchant Response

The merchant asserts that the transaction identified by order_WIN_TEST1788101476 for the amount 2500.0 INR was fulfilled in accordance with the purchase agreement and therefore does not constitute fraudulent activity. The logistics record confirms that the shipment was delivered to the customer's address in Koramangala, Bangalore, Karnataka. The delivery status is recorded as DELIVERED with a single delivery attempt, and the proof of delivery (POD) is available at the provided URL, indicating successful handover of the package on 2026-08-28 at 14:51:21 UTC. The courier responsible for the shipment was BlueDart, and the tracking identifier associated with the order is AWB-101476. These details demonstrate that the merchant met its obligation to dispatch and deliver the goods.

Customer interaction data from the CRM system shows that the buyer opened one support ticket, which has been closed. The ticket summary indicates that the customer's concern related to the color of the received item, not to non-delivery or unauthorized use of the payment method. No request for a refund based on non-receipt was recorded, and the merchant has not issued any refund for this order. The fraud risk score assigned to the transaction is 0.15, reflecting a low likelihood of fraudulent behavior. The absence of any fraud-related flags in the CRM data further supports the merchant's position that the dispute is unfounded.

Taken together, the delivery confirmation, the availability of verifiable proof of delivery, and the nature of the customer's communication establish that the goods were received as intended and that the dispute reason code "chargeback_fraud" does not apply. The merchant has complied with all shipping and customer service obligations, and there is no evidence of any unauthorized transaction or failure to deliver. Accordingly, the merchant requests that the chargeback be denied and the payment of 2500.0 INR be upheld.
